

Sennheiser HD569 Over- Ear Headphones

As successor to the popular HD 500 series, the Sennheiser HD 569 Over-Ear Headphones offers high quality and value in any aspect. Powered by Sennheiser's proprietary transducer technology including the "Ergonomic acoustic refinement" (E.A.R.) design, which channels the audio signal directly into your ears. Featuring a contemporary design that is both attractive and ergonomic. A real treat for all, who listen to their music with a sense of discovery. Key Features

The closed-back over-ear design of the HD 569 provides you with two benefits: Firstly, a great soundstage, brilliantly filled by Sennheiser's proprietary transducer system with rich detail and a powerful bass response. Secondly, an effective acoustic isolation – outside noise stays out, the music stays in. So you can enjoy your music without disturbing anyone. Excelling in versatility, the HD 569 comes with two detachable cables. One is a 3-m cable with 6.3-mm straight plug for home use. The other is a 1.2-m cable with a 3.5-mm straight plug, but most of all with a 1-button remote plus microphone that lets you manage calls. With its over-ear design, the HD 569 offers exceptional wearing comfort for even the longest of listening sessions – or phone calls, for that matter – thanks to its large ear cups and soft replaceable ear pads. A true companion for real life, this noise-isolating over-ear headset lets you manage phone calls with its in-line remote, and enjoy your music anytime, anywhere.
